Who is at high risk from Covid19?

- Some people have been identified by the NHS because they have got existing health conditions that mean they would be the ones most likely to have serious complications if they caught Covid19.
- Initially this group were given advice to avoid any potential contact with the virus and to shield at home – so they are often still referred to as "the shielding group". The group were called "Clinically Extremely Vulnerable" (CEV) during much of the pandemic, but as more has become known about the virus, and which conditions make people more vulnerable to poor outcomes, they are now more generally referred to as "people at high risk from Covid -19".
- Within this group are a smaller number of people who are severely immunocompromised because of their health conditions or immunosuppressed because of the medication they take. This subset of people are thought to be at the highest risk from Covid-19 because they have the lower rates of protection from the vaccine.

People at high risk from Covid19

- This does not mean that any one in this group currently unwell or unhealthy – just that it is very important that they prevent coming into contact with the virus wherever possible.
- People can be in this group because of specific health condition (usually identified by a hospital) or a combination of conditions (usually identified in primary care). Or, since February 2021 – people can be identified using a clinical risk assessment tool – that takes into account a combination of factors. This includes someone's long term conditions, the treatments they are undergoing as well as other factors that would increase their risk: like their age, their body mass and weight, their ethnicity and whether they live in an area where poverty is more likely.
- People in this overall group can be any age – but in Leeds just under half of the people are under the age of 65 and just over half are over the age of 65.
- There are currently around 55,000 people in Leeds who have been identified to be higher risk, up to 10,000 of whom may be severely immunocompromised.

High Risk Health Conditions

People anticipated to be at high risk of developing complications from COVID-19 include:

- solid organ transplant recipients
- people with severe respiratory conditions including all cystic fibrosis, severe asthma and severe chronic obstructive pulmonary (COPD)
- people with rare diseases and inborn errors of metabolism that significantly increase the risk of infections (such as Severe combined immunodeficiency (SCID), homozygous sickle cell)
- people on immunosuppression therapies sufficient to significantly increase risk of infection
- people who have problems with their spleen, for example have had a splenectomy
- adults with Down's syndrome
- adults on dialysis with kidney impairment (Stage 5 Chronic Kidney Disease)
- women who are pregnant with significant heart disease, congenital or acquired
- people with cancer who are undergoing active chemotherapy
- people with lung cancer who are undergoing radical radiotherapy
- people with cancers of the blood or bone marrow such as leukaemia, lymphoma or myeloma who are at any stage of treatment
- people having immunotherapy or other continuing antibody treatments for cancer
- people having other targeted cancer treatments which can affect the immune system, such as protein kinase inhibitors or PARP inhibitors
- people who have had bone marrow or stem cell transplants in the last 6 months, or who are still taking immunosuppression drugs

In February 2021, people identified as being at high risk as a result of the COVID-19 Population Risk Assessment had also been included in the Shielded Patient List.

Specialists in a variety of other conditions including neurological, gastroenterology, renal, rheumatology, dermatology and thoracic also added some people to the high risk category on a case by case basis.

People at moderate risk from Covid-19

- People of any age can catch and spread Covid-19 – but people over the age of 60 have been proven to experience more severe symptoms, are more likely to require medical assistance when they have covid, and unfortunately are more represented in the deaths from Covid-19.
- Therefore it is important that all over 60s take extra care to avoid coming into contact with the virus.
- Additionally, people of any age who have a long term condition are also more likely to have very serious symptoms from Covid-19 and are advised to take additional care. These long term conditions are listed on the next slide.

Moderate Risk health conditions

People were assessed to be at moderate risk of developing complications from coronavirus (COVID-19) where:

1. They met the criteria that made them eligible for the annual flu vaccination (except those aged 65 to 69 years old inclusive who have no other qualifying conditions).
2. They did not meet the CMO criteria for the high risk group for COVID-19, including those identified by the COVID-19 Population Risk Assessment.

This includes all people aged 60 or older (regardless of medical conditions), and people under 60 years old who:

- have chronic (long-term) respiratory disease, such as asthma, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), emphysema or bronchitis
- have chronic heart disease, such as heart failure
- have chronic kidney disease (Stage 1 to 4)
- have chronic liver disease, such as hepatitis
- have a chronic neurological condition, such as Parkinson's disease, motor neurone disease, multiple sclerosis (MS), a learning disability or cerebral palsy
- have diabetes
- have a weakened immune system caused by a medical condition or medications such as steroid tablets or chemotherapy
- are seriously overweight (a BMI of 40 or above)
- are pregnant
- For adults, this was usually anyone instructed to get a flu jab as an adult each year on medical grounds.

Advice to People at Higher Risk

- Since 3rd November 2021, any specific national advice to this group of people has ENDED. This means they are advised follow the same general national advice, but follow that advice very carefully.
- We know that this group are anxious about the risk Covid-19 poses to their health and some will need assistance in order to follow the advice. We have put together these resources to assist anyone advising, or support people in this group know that local support is available, and where to go to find it.
- To date, much of the advice to this group has focused exclusively on what people should NOT do.
- This is important – but it must be in the context of staying mentally and physically well – and choosing what is the right thing for you to DO in any situation.
- Listed here are some of the major DOs and DON'Ts in terms of ADVICE for clinically extremely vulnerable to be healthy and well.
- We have also included some tips from people who have been shielding during the pandemic about how they are approaching the advice they are given.

Advice for people at higher risk from Covid-19

Vaccine

Get your vaccines and booster

Vaccination and boosters are proven to reduce the risk from Covid-19. Call 119 to book, or book online at www.nhs.uk/covid-vaccination. If you need advice, help to book or assistance to attend your appointment, text the word 'callback' to 07480632471, or call 0113 376 0330 to request a call back.

Work

Work from home if you can

If you cannot work from home, talk to your employer about reducing your risk. If you are severely immunocompromised or immunosuppressed seek the advice of your consultant about working. Ask for employment advice if needed.

Shops

Shop online if you can

Or go shopping at less busy times if possible. Wearing a clean, good quality, well-fitting face covering can help lower your risk. If you need assistance to get your shopping or prescriptions, or you need help to afford food, call us on 0113 376 0330.

Social

Avoid crowded indoor spaces

Meeting outdoors in the fresh air is safest. If you are socialising indoors, make sure you have good ventilation by leaving a window open or letting in fresh air at least once an hour. Ask friends and family to take a free lateral flow home test before each visit to help minimise your risk of infection.

DECEMBER 2021

Take extra care whilst rates of infection are high.

Leeds

Summary of Advice for for Clinically Extremely Vulnerable (CEV) people from 19th July 2021

Work

Government no longer has in place a general work from home advisory, but employers still have a legal responsibility to protect their employees and others from risks to their health and safety. Talk to your employer about reducing your risk. If you cannot agree reasonable adjustments, your employer may still be able to furlough you until 30 September. Ask for employment advice if needed.

School

Follow advice from your child's school about how they are limiting the spread of the virus. Make sure your child's school knows that your child/household member is clinically extremely vulnerable.

Shops & Pharmacy

Shopping at quieter times of day may help to reduce your risk. Local support remains in place for clinically extremely vulnerable people who want assistance with shopping or prescription collection

Socialising

Whilst rates of infection are still high in Leeds, clinically extremely vulnerable are advised to avoid crowded spaces, where there are more people who might be infectious. Socialising and exercising outdoors or in well ventilated spaces is safer. Maintaining distance from those you do not live with, particularly if you do not know if they have been vaccinated, is safer than close contact. Take care to keep your home well ventilated.

Travel

Wearing a secure-fitting, good quality face covering on public transport is advised

Care & Support

You should continue to access the care and support you need – this includes any hospital or care appointment you would normally go to. Please note that all health and care venues still require face coverings, unless you are exempt.

Vaccine

All CEVs aged 16+ are strongly encouraged to take up vaccination. If you have not yet had your first vaccination, call 119 or book online at www.nhs.uk/covid-vaccination. If you have any worries or concerns and would like to talk to someone about this, text the word "callback" to 07480632471.

Working with People who are CEV

- Whilst there is no longer any specific national guidance in place, for anyone working with the public at this time, it is advised that you are aware that some people are at higher risk from Covid19 and your work should take place in this context.
- If you are working with individuals who are at higher risk and feel you are unable to continue doing so safely, please escalate these concerns to the Multi Agency Bronze Meeting on Shielding via covid.partners@leeds.gov.uk or by contacting Rachael Loftus on 07891 271 054
- It is recommended that you check with anyone you are working with:
 - if they have previously received a letter or text saying that they are in the shielding group or that they are “clinically extremely vulnerable” to or at “high risk” from Covid19
 - provide support to them to understand its implications
 - share the local helpline numbers with them so they are able to seek help at any time, even if they do not need it now

Local Shielding Communication

- Leeds has a number of ways to communicate directly with people who are clinically extremely vulnerable:
- Texts come from an account called “LCC Covid19” with the number 07480632471 or 07984405308
- Emails are sent from a verified Gov Delivery account. These emails will never ask for personal details.
- Landline telephone calls are made from a Leeds number. Anyone who is suspicious that a call may be fraudulent is advised to hang up and redial the LCC number.
- Letters will be sent periodically to people who do not have access to electronic communications, or to the whole cohort when advice changes.
- Local updates will appear on the dedicated Shielding webpage on the Leeds City Council website: www.leeds.gov.uk/shielding
- In Leeds there is a Multi Agency “Bronze” meeting on Shielding. This feeds in to the city’s command and control structures for dealing with the pandemic. Anyone who wishes to escalate a concern around shielding can contact this group by email: covid.partners@leeds.gov.uk

Routes to Support: Health and Wellbeing

- It is important that you continue to receive the care and support you need to help you stay safe and well.
- Do continue to access and ask for support from the NHS and other health providers for your existing health conditions and any new health concerns. All local NHS services have still got measures in place to limit the potential spread of the virus in health and care settings.
- You can still access a range of NHS services from home, including ordering repeat prescriptions or contacting your health professional through an online consultation, if you feel more comfortable.
- To find out more visit www.nhs.uk/health-at-home, or download the NHS App.
- If you have an urgent medical need, call NHS 111 or, for a medical emergency, dial 999.

Health - If you think you have coronavirus...

- You should isolate and take a test.
- If you test positive using a home test kit (i.e. a free lateral flow test that you check yourself) then it is advised that you follow this up with a lab test (i.e. a PCR test). You can book this test online:

<https://www.nhs.uk/conditions/coronavirus-covid-19/testing/>

Or by calling NHS 119.

There are also some walk in test centres in Leeds, you can check where mobile test centres are by looking here:

- <https://www.leedsccg.nhs.uk/health/coronavirus/coronavirus-where-to-go-for-testing/>

Health - If you do get Covid-19...

- If clinically extremely vulnerable people test positive for Covid 19, you need to monitor your symptoms very carefully.
- If you take immune-suppression medication, it is a good idea to call NHS 111 or your own doctor as soon as you test positive. They may be able to give you special advice on how to manage any Covid symptoms.
- If you have a respiratory condition and already use a pulse oximeter, make sure you keep a close eye on your oxygen levels.
- If your oxygen levels drop to 93% or 94%, speak to your GP or call 111.
- If your oxygen levels drop below 92%, go to A&E or call 999 for an ambulance.

Health - If you do get Covid-19... 2

For everyone - get advice from NHS 111 or your GP if:

- you're feeling gradually more unwell or more breathless
- you have difficulty breathing when you stand up or move around
- you feel very weak, achy, or tired
- you're shaking or shivering
- you've lost your appetite
- you're unable to care for yourself – for example, tasks like washing and dressing or making food are too difficult
- you still feel unwell after 4 weeks – this may be long COVID

Go to 111.nhs.uk, call 111 or call your GP surgery

Winter – Public Health Proactive and Preventative Plan

In the Winter of 2019/20, there were an estimated 28,300 estimated winter deaths in England– these could have been avoided

- The Cold Weather Plan for England is complimented by NICE guidance on excess winter deaths and morbidity and the health risks associated with cold homes.
- The Public Health Outcomes Framework includes indicators to reduce excess winter deaths and fuel poverty
- Direct impact of cold weather include and increase in heart attacks, stroke, influenza, respiratory diseases, falls and injuries and an increase in the indirect impacts which include poor mental health, social isolation.
- Majority of this is observed due to the homes we live in and happen when temperatures are normal (3-5 degrees outside)

Public Health Winter Plan 21/22

To reduce excess winter mortality and morbidity

To protect vulnerable people from the adverse effects of cold and build resilience through addressing:

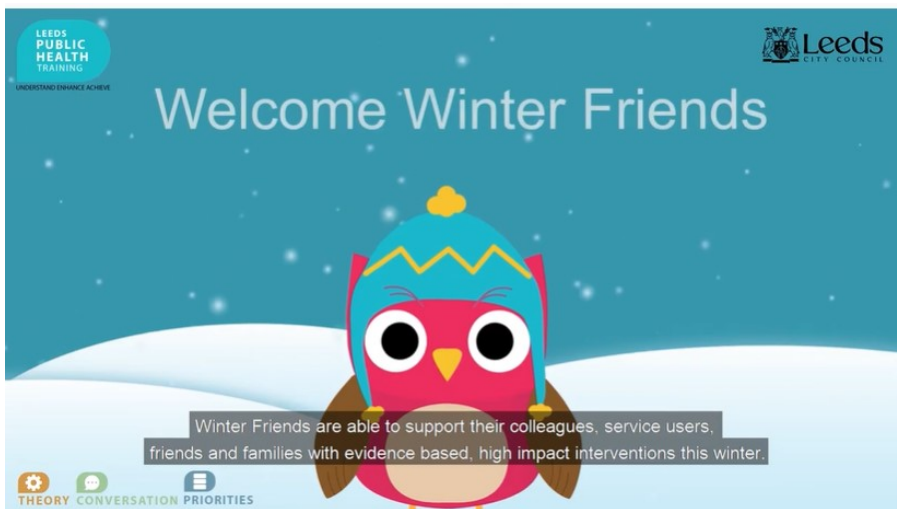

- Preventing Infection and managing outbreaks
- Reducing Impact of cold for vulnerable people
- Supporting people living with frailty

We will achieve this by;

- Having a proactive, knowledgeable and compassionate wider workforce able to identify, signpost and refer effectively
- Providing grants to the third sector to identify and address the needs of the communities they work with
- Ensuring services receive alerts and are prepared for winter and cold spells - able to respond to the changing demands and needs of the communities they work with
- Commissioning services to build resilience and confidence with those are most vulnerable to frailty and falls and services aimed at enabling and maintaining independent living through improving health at home.
- Encouraging neighbourliness, kindness and informal volunteering in communities focussing on evidence based high impact interventions
- Improving access to vaccinations
- Providing key messages in communities to prepare for and stay well during cold spells
- Developing programmes of work to support those affected by the financial challenges winter will bring (including fuel poverty)

Advice for people at higher risk from Covid-19

Vaccine

Get your vaccines and booster

Vaccination and boosters are proven to reduce the risk from Covid-19. Call 119 to book, or book online at www.nhs.uk/covid-vaccination. If you need advice, help to book or assistance to attend your appointment, text the word 'callback' to 07480632471, or call 0113 376 0330 to request a call back.

Work

Work from home if you can

If you cannot work from home, talk to your employer about reducing your risk. If you are severely immunocompromised or immunosuppressed seek the advice of your consultant about working. Ask for employment advice if needed.

Shops

Shop online if you can

Or go shopping at less busy times if possible. Wearing a clean, good quality, well-fitting face covering can help lower your risk. If you need assistance to get your shopping or prescriptions, or you need help to afford food, call us on 0113 376 0330.

Social

Avoid crowded indoor spaces

Meeting outdoors in the fresh air is safest. If you are socialising indoors, make sure you have good ventilation by leaving a window open or letting in fresh air at least once an hour. Ask friends and family to take a free lateral flow home test before each visit to help minimise your risk of infection.

Take extra care while infection rates are high

Covid+

If you or someone else tests positive for Covid-19

If someone in your household tests positive, isolate from them within your home if you can, and use a daily home lateral flow test. If you test positive for Covid-19 you should manage your symptoms carefully:

- If you usually take immunosuppression medication seek advice from NHS 111.
- If you usually use a pulse oximeter to monitor your condition, make sure you keep an eye on your oxygen levels and seek advice from NHS 111 if you need to.
- If you feel very unwell or have difficulty breathing contact NHS 111 and explain you are at a higher risk from Covid-19.
- If you need help to self-isolate call us on 0113 376 0330.

Help & Support

Get help from us

If you need any advice or support, let us know and we will do our best to help you stay happy and healthy. Here are some of the ways we can help:

- Get an emergency food delivery if you will run out within 48 hours, or get help from a volunteer to get your shopping for you.
- Get help to access benefits, or emergency support payments if you are struggling financially, or need help to heat your home.
- Get help with your emotional or physical health from us or local services.
- We can put you in touch with local organisations that hold safe activities and events.
- Get help to get online, including loaning one of our devices free of charge.
- Text YES to 07480632471 to get text alerts with updates on Covid-19.

Definitions

- CEV = “Clinically Extremely Vulnerable” to Covid-19. The list of conditions and how it is determined can be found here
- SPL = “Shielded Patient List” – the NHS list of all the people who are CEV
- “Shielding” – the specific advice given to CEV people to stay at home when Covid-19 transmission is at its highest

These slides are intended to assist anyone working with people in Leeds who have been advised that they are clinically extremely vulnerable to Covid 19.

The information is collected from a number of sources and every effort has been made to ensure that it is accurate. If you find something has been changed, or there is an error – please do share that with us at covid.partners@leeds.gov.uk, so that we can keep improving these resources.
